

Notice from on the Yellowstone National Park superintendent's minutes of December 13, 2007:

There has been a delay in the public launch of the Old Faithful Geyser

live streaming web cam. Ice has been forming on the camera and temporarily obstructing views. Remote camera control software is being tested on this and other web cam maintenance issues.

Concurrently, web pages, FAQs, and a press release are being prepared and will be ready for distribution when a release date is established. We hope to have it fully operational in the near future,

but are striving to ensure a reliable web presence once it is launched.
