Dear Jeff,

I read the article below, and am wondering what you are using to make the uniforms antimicrobial. If you have any information on the compound you use, I would appreciate it. I called your offices and they referred me to you. Thank you!

Kyla

Kyla,

I apologize for the slow response. I received the below response from our Merchandising group.

I'm not sure we know. The items with antimicrobial are commercial and we would have to contact the vendors. And this is product that has not yet been approved by DOI – they are items we quoted in the bid but DOI has to approve each first article – that is happening the first week of November.

After receiving the email I had a face to face with the merchandiser and she explained the meeting coming up in mid-November and that we are trying to determine the styles that will have antimicrobial fabrics. They also mentioned that if and when we make the change that this will be a running change and may take some time to work through the inventory.

I have asked for an update after the meeting to help understand our direction. I can keep you posted.

Hope this helps and have a nice rest of your day.
