

Tennessee Environmental Council is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that works on a broad range of projects related to the conservation and improvement of land, air, water, energy and transportation. For over forty years, the Council has been working to protect the environment in Tennessee. The Council's efforts have been successful in protecting the Great Smoky Mountains, cleaning up the Pigeon River, reducing pollution from coal-fired power plants, and preventing degradation of high quality streams and the globally significant Duck River Watershed.

Riverkeeper's mission is to protect the environmental, recreational and commercial integrity of the Hudson River and its tributaries, and safeguard the drinking water of nine million New York City and Hudson Valley residents. Riverkeeper focuses on three overarching problems facing Hudson River communities: restoration of the Hudson River ecosystem, with particular emphasis on minimizing fish kills and water pollution; protection of New York City's drinking water supply; and improving public access to the Hudson River.

The National Association of Injured & Disabled Workers is a nationally recognized 501(c)(3) nonprofit charitable foundation that advocates on behalf of injured & disabled workers and their families. NAIDW's purpose is to provide free unlimited resources, support, guidance and short-term financial assistance to injured and disabled workers and their families that suffer from the result of an injury, illness, chronic pain, disability and death.

Food & Water Watch champions healthy food and clean water for all. Its staff and grassroots efforts work to create a healthy future for our families and for generations to come—a world where all people have the resources they need, including wholesome food, clean water and sustainable energy. Making this happen requires organizing people from all over the country to build a large movement with the political power to make our democratic process work.

America Unites for Kids is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that champions children's rights to a toxic-free education in environments that will not jeopardize their health. With responsibility and grace it advocates to ensure Environmental Health Excellence for all children in all schools and for those teachers who educate them.

Oregon Environmental Council advances innovative, collaborative and equitable solutions to Oregon's environmental challenges for today and future generations. Founded in 1968, it is a nonprofit, non-partisan, membership-based organization that works to protect the health of every Oregonian and the place we call home by working for clean air and water, a healthy climate, and an unpolluted landscape.
